Battle at dawn

Sun in cloud of smoke

Nobody knows

10

what will happen now

What will tomorrow

15

be feeding young minds?

Some will have hope

and some will cry.

Svyatislav Vakarchuk has graciously given his permission to carillonneurs to arrange and perform this music.

Vakarchuk: Not Your War (3 octaves)

Refrain Tree branches bending to the pool

20

24

Mommy, what god were we praying to? How many more will be taken now? -

28

Your kids. . . someone else's war? Our daughters and sons

36

colorful world kissed hands of liars

Vakarchuk: Not Your War (3 octaves)

40

wanted quiet nights

And gave up their days

44

for these beautiful lies!

Refrain

Tree branches bending to the pool

48

Mommy, what god were we praying to?

How many more will be taken now -

52

Your kids. . . someone else's war?

Reprise

Tree branches bending to the pool

Mommy, what god were we praying to?

How many more will be taken now -

56

Your kids. . someone else's war?

60

ritardando poco a poco

How many more will be taken now-

Your kids. . someone else's war?
